Legislative Aide

Today marks the first day of the 2016 General Assembly session. During this year's 60-day session, legislators will not only consider thousands of bills, but also craft and pass Virginia's biennial budget. Needless to say, we will remain busy!

Earlier this afternoon, House and Senate members were sworn into office. Afterward, both bodies completed organizational procedures. Later this evening, we will convene again to hear the Governor's State of the Commonwealth address. I encourage you to tune in via your local PBS station or view the speech online HERE.

Throughout the session, I will provide weekly newsletters via email. The updates will include information about "hot topics" as well as details about the bills I am carrying. Each newsletter will afterward be posted on my website, www.brendapogge.com. A list of my legislation is available HERE.

Additionally, my 2016 Legislative Survey is available online. Please take a moment to share your input on these important issues. The survey is available on my website or by clicking HERE.

Make your voice heard! Partner with Americans for Prosperity on Monday, January 18.

Are you ready to tell Governor McAuliffe that we won't give up our freedoms or pay higher taxes to fund his reckless, big-government agenda?

Then participate in
